When you access or use the Services, we collect, use, share, and otherwise process your personal data as described in this policy. We will not share, sell, rent, or otherwise disclose your private personal data to third parties without your consent or another valid legal basis permitted by law.

We will share your information in the following circumstances on the legal basis of the legitimate interests of providing the requested Services:

Within The ATA: We may share and process information internally within the ATA and with our subsidiaries and affiliates. Our personnel may have access to your information as needed to provide and operate the Services in the normal course of business. This includes information regarding your use and interaction with the Services.

We share personal data with our Service Providers on the legal basis of our legitimate interests in providing you with the Services. Our engagement of Service Providers is often necessary for us to provide the Services to you, particularly where such companies play important roles like helping us keep our Services operating and secure. In some other cases, these service providers aren't strictly necessary for us to provide the Services, but help us make it better, like by helping us conduct research into how we could better serve our members. In these latter cases, we have a legitimate interest in working with service providers to make our Services better.

These technologies allow a partner to recognize your computer or mobile device each time you use the Services. Please be aware that when you use third-party sites or Services, their own terms and privacy policies will govern your use of those sites or Services. We choose and manage these third-party technologies placed on our Services. However, these are third-party technologies, and they are subject to that third party's privacy policy. We rely on your consent to drop and read non-technically necessary cookies. We are not responsible for the privacy or security practices of third parties.

Your information, including personal data, may be among assets sold or transferred as part of a business transaction. In some cases, we may choose to buy or sell assets. Such transactions may be necessary and in our legitimate interest, particularly our interest in making decisions that enable our organization to develop over the long term.

Safety and Lawful Requests: We may be required to disclose our members' information pursuant to lawful requests, such as subpoenas or court orders, or in compliance with applicable laws. We generally do not disclose our members' information unless we have a good faith belief that an information request by law enforcement or private litigants meets applicable legal standards. We may share your information when we believe it is necessary to comply with applicable laws, to protect our interests or property, to prevent fraud or other illegal activity perpetrated through the Services or using our name, or to protect the safety of any person. This may include sharing information with other companies, lawyers, agents, or government agencies. Nothing in this policy is intended to limit any legal defenses or objections that you may have to a third party's, including a government's, request to disclose your information.

Aggregated Non-Personal Data: We may disclose aggregated, non-personal data received from providing the Services, including information that does not identify any individual, without restriction. We may share demographic information with business partners, but it will be aggregated and de-personalized so that personal data is not revealed.

Public Forums & Community

The ATA offers an online discussion community across the Services. We offer several features that allow members to connect and communicate in public or semi-public spaces as part of these Services. You do not have to use these features, but if you do, please use common sense and good judgment when posting in these community spaces or sharing your personal data with others through the Services.

Please be aware that any personal data that you choose to submit there can be read, collected, or used by others, or could be used to send unsolicited messages to you. We may engage certain third parties and Service Providers to assist in providing community Services to you and, in the context of that relationship; we need to share some of your information with such third parties in order to provide that service. We generally do not control or remove content from public Services spaces, and your posts may remain public after your account is closed. You are responsible for the personal data that you choose to post in public Services spaces.

Please also note we may automatically collect certain information about you when you browse or post to the communities and forums, such as your computer's IP address or a device identification number.

Your Rights & Choices Regarding Your Information

Your Rights

The ATA seeks to ensure all individuals are provided with the rights mandated by their governing jurisdiction. Not all of the rights discussed in this policy will apply to each individual data subject and may not apply to you depending upon your jurisdiction.

If you would like to manage, change, limit, or delete your personal data, you can do so by contacting us. Upon request, we will provide you with information about whether we hold any of your personal data. In certain cases where we process your information, you may also have a right to restrict or limit the ways in which we use your personal data. In certain circumstances, you also have the right to request the deletion of your personal data, and to obtain a copy of your personal data in an easily accessible format.

To the extent that such rights are mandated by the laws applicable to the individual data subject, such as all data subjects residing in the European Union (“EU”), the following rights may apply: the right to access (GDPR, Article 15); the right to rectification (GDPR, Article 16); the right to erasure (GDPR, Article 17); the right to restrict processing (GDPR, Article 18); the right of object (GDPR, Article 21); and if applicable, the right to data portability (GDPR, Article 20). If we process your information based on our legitimate interests as explained in this policy, or in the public interest, you can object to this processing in certain circumstances. In such cases, we will cease processing of your information unless we have compelling legitimate grounds to continue processing or where it is needed for legal reasons. Where we use your data for direct marketing purposes, you can always object using the unsubscribe link in such communications or changing your account settings.

Where you have provided consent to certain data processing, you have the right to withdraw that consent at any time by contacting us at privacy@archerytrade.org. Withdrawal of consent will not affect the validity of our use of your personal data up until the point you have withdrawn your consent.

If you no longer wish to use the Services or receive service-related messages (except for legally required notices), then you may contact us using the information above.

Access To The Information We Have Collected About You

We provide our members with an online My ATA account to help them access, correct, delete, or modify your personal data associated with the Services. Please note requests to delete or remove your information do not necessarily ensure complete or comprehensive removal of the content or information posted and removed information may persist in backup copies indefinitely. Please note that if you choose to delete your information or opt-out of the collection and use of your information, you understand that certain features, including but not limited to access to the Services, may no longer be available to you.

otherwise described in this Policy. In addition, our sellers may also be required to retain and use your information in order to comply with certain legal obligations. We also retain log files for internal analysis purposes. These log files are generally retained for a brief period, except in cases where they are used for site safety and security, to improve site functionality, or we are legally obligated to retain them for longer time periods. We may delete your personal data from our systems as part of a data retention plan. Following termination or deactivation of an online account, we may retain your information and content for a commercially reasonable time for backup, archival, and audit purposes.

We do not currently employ a process for automatically responding to “Do Not Track” (DNT) signals sent by web browsers, mobile devices, or other mechanisms. Per industry standards, third parties may be able to collect information, including personal data, about your online activities over time and across different websites or online Services when you use Services. You may opt out of online behavioral ads at <http://www.aboutads.info/choices/>. You also may limit certain tracking by disabling cookies in your web browser.

Information Security

The security of your personal data is important to us. We take reasonable efforts to secure and protect the privacy, accuracy, and reliability of your information and to protect it from loss, misuse, unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, and destruction. We implemented security measures as we deem appropriate and consistent with industry standards. As no data security protocol is impenetrable, we cannot guarantee the security of our systems or databases, nor can we guarantee that personal data we collect about you will not be breached, intercepted, destroyed, accessed, or otherwise disclosed without authorization. Accordingly, any information you transfer to or from Services are provided at your own risk.

You are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of your password and an online account, and are fully responsible for all activities that occur under your password or online account. We specifically reserve the right to terminate your access to the Services and any contract you have with us related to the Services in the event it learns or suspects you have disclosed your online account or password information to an unauthorized third party.

Additional Provisions Regarding The Services & Your Information

Transfer And Storage Of Your Information

The United States, European Economic Area Member States, and other countries all have different laws relating to privacy and data protection. When your information is moved from your home country to another country, the laws and rules that protect your personal data in the country to which your information is transferred may be different from those in the country in which you live. For example, the circumstances in which law enforcement can access personal data may vary from country to country. In particular, if your information is in the United States, it may be accessed by government authorities in accordance with U.S. law.

Please be advised that the information we collect about you via the Services may be transferred, processed and accessed by us in the United States, or another country where we, or our Service Providers operate. Please be aware that the privacy laws and standards in certain countries, including the rights of authorities to access your personal data, may differ from those that apply in the country in which you reside. If you are located outside the United States and choose to allow us to collect information about you, please be aware that we may transfer your personal data to the United States and process and store it there. We will transfer personal data only to those countries to which we are permitted by law to transfer personal data, and we will take steps to ensure that your personal data continues to enjoy appropriate protections.

Processing Necessary for the Performance Of The Contract

You can choose whether or not you want to use the Services. However, if you want to use the Services, you need to agree to our ATA Membership Terms and Conditions, which set out the contract between you and the members of the Services. We cannot provide many of the Services without your agreement to this contract, and without moving your personal data to us and Service Providers in various jurisdictions. Therefore certain processing of your personal data is done on the legal basis of processing necessary for the performance of the contract between you, as a user of the Services, and us.

Safely Using Our Services

Despite our safety and privacy controls, we cannot guarantee the Services are entirely free of illegal, offensive, or otherwise inappropriate material, or that you will not encounter inappropriate or illegal conduct from other members when using the Services. To make such a request, please write to us at the address below or at privacy@archerytrade.org with “Request for California Privacy

Information” on the subject line and in the body of your message. We will comply with your request within thirty (30) days or as otherwise required by the statute. Please be aware that not all information sharing is covered by the “Shine the Light” requirements and only information on covered sharing will be included in our response.

Changes to Our Privacy Policy

We may modify this policy from time to time. The most current version of this policy will govern our use of your information and is located at <https://archerytrade.org/privacy-policy/>.
